

Call to Action on Protection from Gender-based Violence in Emergencies:

CALL TO ACTION

On Protection from Gender-based Violence in Emergencies

NORTH-EAST NIGERIA ROAD MAP 2018-2019

INTRODUCTION

Gender-based violence (GBV) is a horrifying reality for many of those affected by conflict and crises, particularly women and girls. The Call to Action on Protection from Gender-based Violence in Emergencies (Call to Action) is a global initiative launched in 2013 with one simple goal: to ensure that every humanitarian response, from the very start, provides safe and comprehensive services for GBV survivors and mitigates the risks of GBV.

Members of the Call to Action are States and donors, international organizations, and non-governmental organizations. They have committed to take collective action to address GBV, to be mutually supportive in this lifesaving work, and to hold one another accountable for action. The Call to Action Road Map 2016-2020 provides the global operational framework for these efforts.

To advance implementation of the Call to Action at the country level, Call to Action members working in Northeast Nigeria, the Nigerian Ministry of Women Affairs and Social Development which chairs the Gender-based Violence Sub-Working Group and several other stakeholders, came together to pilot the development of a two-year Road Map for the most conflict affected states of Northeast Nigeria—Borno, Adamawa and Yobe. This is a groundbreaking initiative to create a localized multi-year Road Map that is informed by the global framework, but tailored to address the GBV challenges in a particular area. The Government of Nigeria has identified Protection and Gender as one of its three key priorities in the 2018 Humanitarian Response Plan, and pointed to implementation of the Call to Action as “a pivotal point and a critical foundation for stability and solutions in affected areas.”

The Northeast Nigeria Road Map is a living document and will be adjusted over time as circumstances evolve. It is hoped that additional government and civil society stakeholders will join the initiative, bringing their valuable perspectives and expertise to the work of protecting communities from GBV, especially women and girls.

GENDER-BASED VIOLENCE CHALLENGES IN NORTHEAST NIGERIA

As the crisis in Northeast Nigeria enters its ninth year, an estimated 7.7 million people are in urgent need of humanitarian assistance and protection in the most affected states of Borno, Adamawa and Yobe. This includes some 1.6 million internally displaced persons (IDPs), of which 48% are women.

Gender-based violence is widespread. A study conducted in 2016 found that six in ten women in the Northeast have experienced some form of GBV. Displacement, limited access to services and protection, and disruption of livelihoods greatly exacerbate the risks of GBV. Women, girls and boys report having to engage in survival sex for money, food and permission to move in and out of IDP sites. Sexual abuse and other violations against women and children are widespread inside and outside IDP camps and a culture of impunity for perpetrators contributes to continued violence. Conditions in IDP sites often do not meet basic protection standards.

Female headed households are at particularly high risk. The situation is also quite grave for adolescent girls who are targeted while performing such basic tasks as collecting firewood, fetching water or using communal latrines. The safety and well-being of adolescent girls is also threatened by early marriage and forced prostitution in addition to survival sex. Girls and women who have been abducted by armed groups endure rape and forced marriage during captivity, and then must deal with stigmatization and possible rejection from the community upon their release.

While the humanitarian response to GBV improved in 2017, there are still significant gaps that must be addressed in the quality and reach of the response, in access to medical, psychosocial, legal services and livelihoods for survivors, and in the delivery of essential protection and assistance.

PRIORITY AREAS IN THE CALL TO ACTION ROAD MAP

To help close the most pressing gaps in the humanitarian response in the Northeast, the stakeholders contributing to this Call to Action Road Map have chosen to focus their collective efforts in five areas in 2018-19:

- Strengthening Coordination to ensure a timely, accountable, holistic, inter-sectoral approach to preventing and responding to GBV.
- Improving Access to Quality Services for Survivors by ensuring that sufficient and timely access to these services is an essential component of the humanitarian response.
- Strengthening the Capacity and Expanding the Engagement of Local Partners to improve GBV prevention and response efforts.
- Securing Sufficient Funding for GBV programming through improved coordination and advocacy.
- Engaging Security Actors to improve GBV prevention and response.

The full Road Map with the actions each stakeholder plans to undertake, funding permitting, can be found at: <https://www.humanitarianresponse.info/en/operations/nigeria/gender-based-violence>.

ACCOUNTABILITY FOR PROGRESS

A hallmark of the Call to Action is the commitment by stakeholders to collective action and accountability. The monitoring and accountability approach chosen by stakeholders engaged in the Northeast Nigeria Road Map is also detailed in the document.

Ultimately, the measure of success for the Call to Action lies in the concrete improvements that are made in the lives of GBV survivors and those who face the risk of GBV every single day in this crisis.

SUPPORTING ACCOUNTABILITY FOR ACTION AND RESULTS

Stakeholders committed to the Northeast Nigeria Road Map agree on the importance of having mechanisms in place to sustain momentum, promote accountability and monitor progress on implementation.

With support from ECHO, two positions have been established to support stakeholders in their collective implementation and monitoring of the Northeast Nigeria Road Map—a senior GBV technical expert who will serve as the Call to Action Regional Advisor, and a M+E specialist.

In taking the Call to Action forward, there is consensus among stakeholders that the Call to Action should not create unnecessary new structures or heavy reporting burdens. Rather, the Call to Action should leverage existing processes to the greatest extent possible. And it should ensure the continued engagement of humanitarian leadership, donors and all relevant stakeholders in the initiative. The mechanisms described below reflect these considerations.

MULTI-STAKEHOLDER TASK TEAM TO SUSTAIN MOMENTUM

A Task Team will be established to promote the sustainability of the Call to Action and accountability for commitments. It will be a multi-stakeholder Task Team in keeping with the nature of the Call to Action initiative, and will be chaired by the Federal Ministry of Women Affairs and Social Development. The Task Team will be supported by the Call to Action Regional Advisor and M+E specialist.

The Call to Action Task Team members will work together to convene two stakeholder meetings and to issue the call for stakeholder reports as described below. They will also ensure that Call to Action considerations are raised in the deliberations of the Humanitarian Country Team, the Operational Humanitarian Country team, the Inter-Sector Working Group and other critical fora.

STAKEHOLDER MEETINGS

Call to Action stakeholders will meet twice a year. There will be a mid-year meeting to review progress to date on Road Map implementation, and an annual meeting to identify ongoing gaps, new opportunities and needed updates to the Road Map. These will be hosted by the Call to Action Task Team, with organizing support from the Call to Action Regional Advisor and M+E advisor.

CALL TO ACTION REPORTING

STAKEHOLDER REPORTS

To inform the discussions at the Call to Action meetings, Stakeholders will submit a brief mid-year update on their Call to Action work and an annual report on implementation of planned activities. The reports will be submitted to the Call to Action Regional Advisor and analyzed by the Call to Action monitoring and evaluation advisor in advance of the two stakeholder meetings.

UTILIZING INFORMATION FROM EXISTING MONITORING MECHANISMS

In addition to Call to Action stakeholder reports, progress in addressing gender-based violence in the Northeast Nigeria humanitarian response can also be captured through the required reporting under the Humanitarian Response Plan. The Call to Action monitoring and evaluation advisor will work closely with the GBV Sub-working group's information management team to ensure that information related to the Humanitarian Response Plan is systematically analyzed in the context of the Call to Action commitments.

And the advisor will also identify and collect relevant information from other frameworks and processes, and ensure this is shared throughout the Call to Action network.
